United States - F-1 Student Visa, interview day

- Confirm your interview date, time, and location - book as early as your I-20 allows
- Confirm your SEVIS I-901 fee receipt matches your I-20's SEVIS ID exactly
- Print your DS-160 confirmation page
- Organise your financial evidence to clearly match your I-20's stated figure

What to bring

Item	Notes
Passport	Valid, meeting the validity requirement
Form I-20	Signed by you and your DSO
SEVIS fee receipt	Matching your SEVIS ID
DS-160 confirmation page	Printed
Financial evidence	Matching your I-20's stated figure
Academic documents	Transcripts, diplomas, test scores used for admission
IN-PERSON INTERVIEW IS STANDARD Unlike some visitor-visa categories elsewhere in this catalogue, an in-person interview is the norm for F-1 applicants, not the exception - be ready to speak clearly and specifically about your program, your school choice, your funding, and your plans after graduation.

At the interview

- Answer directly and specifically - vague answers about your study plan or funding are a common, avoidable red flag
- Be ready to explain your I-20's cost figure and exactly how you're funding it
- A decision is generally given the same day, though some cases require administrative processing

After your interview

- If approved, check your visa's validity and entry conditions before you travel
- If refused, see the Refusal Decision Guide (Premium tier)
